RAIN SQUALLS A THREAT TO AERIAL
SCANNING SEACritical Period Reached In Search For Amelia
and NavigatorUNABLE TO FIND
WINSLOW REEFAircraft Carrier Lexington
Expected To Search
Area Monday

HONOLULU, July 9.—The chances of finding Amelia Earhart and Frederick J. Noonan are infinitesimal in the privately expressed opinions of naval officers connected with the search for the fliers, missing seven days on the 2,570-mile flight from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland.

HONOLULU, July 9.—Equatorial rain squalls threatened to interrupt the search for Amelia Earhart which navy airmen considered was entering its most crucial phase today.

Despite a forecast of rain and poor visibility, officers aboard the battleship Colorado planned to catapult her three planes aloft again in expectation of completing an aerial search of the Phoenix Islands tomorrow.

Today and Saturday, they said they felt, was the most critical period since the coast guard cutter started the search just a week ago. Airmen felt in flights yesterday and Wednesday they definitely eliminated the possibility she was in the area around Winslow reef.

By sea and air search for the missing aviator and her navigator, Frederick J. Noonan, has encompassed approximately 156,000 square miles without even sighting some of the shoals and sand spits supposed to exist in the vast area.

The fliers vanished a week ago today in an attempt to fly the 2,570 miles from Lae, New Guinea, to Howland Island, a dot of land but two feet above the sea.

Three planes from the battleship Colorado, steaming steadily from the equator southward to the Phoenix Islands, soared over the area east and south of Howland Island yesterday but sighted no trace of the pair.

The planes, piloted by Lieuts. J. O. Lambrecht, L. O. Fox, and W. B. Short, Jr., could not even find Winslow Reef, which old charts showed peaked just above the sea 175 miles southeast of Howland.

Lexington to Area Monday
Mariners expressed belief the only available charts either misrepresented the location of the reef, which might have offered a precarious emergency landing spot, or else the little known outcropping had sunk below the sea's surface.

The $40,000,000 aircraft carrier Lexington, which sped from San Diego to Hawaii, was expected to get away for the 1,500-mile dash to the search area today and spread her brood of planes probably next Monday.

Rear Admiral O. G. Murfin, 14th naval district commandant and director of the search, expressed belief the success or failure of the hunt should be known by Monday, after the Lexington's planes capable of covering 60,000 square miles daily, begin explorations.

Radio amateurs in Hawaii and on the mainland continued to report interception of messages they interpreted as being from the aviator, missing since last Friday, but coast guard and naval operators said they had not heard them, and in most instances pointed out the reported calls were on frequencies not used by the aviator.

Miss Earhart, who once declared she would be "happy to bop off in the midst of such an adventure," would be unable to send only if her plane were on land.

David Binney Putnam, Miss Earhart's stepson, yesterday joined his father, George Palmer Putnam, in San Francisco radiating a confidence not shared in opinions privately expressed by air men and radio operators who have closely followed the search.

As the extent of the hunt widened, the belief has steadily grown that Miss Earhart and Noonan never would be found.

Charm For Protection
TOKYO, July 9.—Five leading women aviators of Japan today presented the American embassy with a charm of protection for Amelia Earhart, American aviator missing in the south seas for a week.

The charm had been bestowed on the girls by the Shinto priest of the Konpara Shrine after they had offered prayers for Miss Earhart's safety. The charm, similar to that carried by all Japanese soldiers in battle, will be forwarded to Miss Earhart's family.

Rain At La Monte.
A heavy rain, which lasted only a few minutes, fell at La Monte about 2:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Showers also fell at and near Windsor and Leeton.

TWO K. C. YOUTHS
DROWN AT WARSAW

WARSAW, Mo., July 9.—A twirling log spilled two Kansas City boys to their death in the Lake of the Ozarks near here Thursday.

The lads, Ray Whitesell, 13, Kansas City, Kas., and Billy Zans, 11, Kansas City, Mo., were attending the Opportunity Farm camp conducted by the City Union Mission of Kansas City. They were swimming when the log on which they were supporting themselves rolled over.

Three camp instructors tried artificial respiration treatment vainly for an hour.

RETURN ARMOUR
ON FIRST DEGREE
ROBBERY CHARGESpeaks of Partner Who
He Claims Drove Here
In Stolen Car

Willis Armour, 28, of Saverton, Mo., arrested in Fort Worth, Texas, last Saturday, driving a stolen car, was brought back to Sedalia early this morning by Sheriff W. L. Marlin and Deputy Clyde Coppers, who drove to Fort Worth for him. Armour is wanted here on a first degree robbery charge, the theft of an automobile belonging to Phil Russell, taken Sunday afternoon, June 13.

Armour waived extradition in Fort Worth after he learned that he could be held until such time as Sedalia officers had made application for extradition papers in Texas. Indicating that he would plead guilty if given some leniency, Armour told the Sedalia officers he went from Sedalia, in the Russell car, to Perry, Mo., near which place he has relatives. He spoke of a partner, whose name he refused to divulge, and said it was this partner who drove into Sedalia some weeks ago in a car stolen from Miss Ruth Barnhill, of Marshall, and abandoned the car near the incinerator plant. He said the car he was driving in Texas, one stolen from Baxter Springs, Kas., had been stolen by this partner, from whom he had obtained it in St. Louis.

Armour's arrest was brought about through the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Kansas City, to whom Sheriff Marlin had reported the case immediately after the Russell car was taken. Because of violation of the Dyer act, transporting a stolen car from one state to another, the FBI became interested in the case, and reported the arrest in Texas to Sheriff Marlin.

Armour, driving a car found to have been stolen from Pittsburg, Kas., collided with one driven by Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Parker on highway 65, a short distance north of Sedalia, Sunday afternoon, June 13. When he attempted to leave the scene of the accident in a car he had "hauled down," Governor Thomas, filling station operator, objected. Armour then pulled a gun on Thomas and threatened Mr. and Mrs. Parker. Becoming frightened he ran into a field when he saw a motorcycle coming down the highway, which he evidently thought was an officer. A search was made through the country in that vicinity all that afternoon by officers, but Armour eluded them and approaching Phil Russell, who with his daughter had stopped at a farm house nearby, compelled Russell to drive him north on highway 65. Mr. Russell persuaded the bandit to let him leave the car, with his young daughter, which was done and they were picked up on the highway and brought back to Sedalia in a truck.

Armour told the officers on the way back from Texas that he had a notion to give himself up the afternoon the officers were searching the fields and timber for him, but was afraid he would be killed. He also said that Mr. Russell told him to take his car, to which the sheriff replied that anyone else would have been the same, facing a gun all the while.

NOT DISMISS SUIT AGAINST MAE WEST

LOS ANGELES, July 9.—Mae West, the screen's millionaire hip-swinger, would like to see song-and-dance man, Frank Wallace drop his suit for "declaratory relief," now that she has recognized him as her husband of 26 years.

Moon-faced Mae's attorneys said as much today, but Wallace's counsel objected.

"Miss West has not answered Wallace's contention they lived together as man and wife from the time of the marriage on April 11, 1911, until March 14, 1914," argued Lawyer Avery M. Blount.

It was a question for Superior Judge Emmett Wilson to decide and Blount said if the court ruled the suit could continue he would take a deposition from Miss West. Blount said also "it is quite probable" Wallace will ask for an accounting of community property.

In New York, Samuel J. Siegel, another attorney for Wallace, said the 47-year-old vaudeville actor had been offered $20,000 to "forget all about the ceremony," but he will play for higher stakes, half of his wife's reputed $30,000,000.

Miss West was in seclusion.

WATER COMPANY
CALLS ATTENTION
TO REDUCTIONSSees No Valid Reason
at Present For Further CutLETTER TO MAYOR
FROM L. P. ANDREWSExpresses Willingness To Confer With Committee
Any Time

Relative to the request of the city council for a reduction in water rates in the city of Sedalia, L. P. Andrews, president and manager of the Sedalia Water Company, Thursday night mailed the letter which appears below to Mayor Julian H. Bagby, and the special committee of the council to consider the rate reduction proposition. It is in answer to one to the water company from Mayor Bagby and the committee, which appeared in this publication a few days ago:

"July 8th, 1937
"Honorable Julian H. Bagby, Mayor, or Messrs. Timbrius, Fulkerson and Summers; Special Committee on Matter of Water Rates, City of Sedalia, Missouri.
"Gentlemen:

"We have given your letter of June 30th, in the matter of rate reduction full consideration and find therein no valid reason for changing the position we took in our letter of June 17th.

"The statement on the second page of your letter showing our average net earnings for ten years, taken from the annual reports to the Public Service Commission, to be $86,495 is misleading as the first half of that period was little affected by the half dozen voluntary rate reductions made in the last six years. The question under consideration is the rate schedule of today, in a year that will perhaps show a net return of more than $100,000 below the average you use.

"With reference to the opinion expressed in the third paragraph of your letter, we feel that it is futile to further discuss the question of valuation other than stating—that in a final analysis, matters of valuation and rates are according to the laws of this state vested with the Public Service Commission and the company feels that it is justified in relying upon their valuation made in 1926, corrected by additions and retirements to date, and further feels that this valuation sufficiently reflects values at the present time as to eliminate the necessity of asking the Public Service Commission of Missouri to make a present day inventory and valuation of its property. The cost of such an inventory and valuation, together with the proceedings before the Commission, would more than likely be $10,000 to $15,000 and would be borne by the consumers and merely result in delaying the date or time at which it would otherwise be possible for the company to make further rate reductions. We trust that it will not be necessary to have the consumers burdened with this expense.

"As stated before, it is our purpose to continue the policy of operating the business of this company in the most economical manner possible consistent with the maintenance of good service to the public, and to reduce rates as the earnings warrant such reductions.

"We have submitted our position in the matter and believe that it is fair and reasonable to all interests concerned and conclusively shows that the present earnings of the company do not warrant any reduction in rates at this time. We will, however, be glad to meet with you and your committee at any time, if you so desire.

Yours very truly,
SEDALIA WATER COMPANY,
L. P. Andrews,
President & Manager."

R. O. MASTERS HELD ON CHECKS CHARGE

By The Associated Press.

DES MOINES, Ia., July 9.—Lieut. Gov. John Valentine signed a request today for extradition of R. O. Masters of Sedalia, Mo., held in Kansas City on a charge of issuing $1,000 worth of bad checks for corn bought in Franklin county, Ia.

Sheriff I. C. Schweiger of Franklin county left for Jefferson City, Mo., to present the requisition.

Mr. Masters formerly lived on South Speed avenue this city, but for a number of months has made his home in Kansas City. When he made frequent trips to Iowa to buy corn, brought it back to sell, and returned to Iowa taking a load of cedar posts.

A warrant for his arrest on the check charge was sent to Sheriff Marlin about three weeks ago. After making an investigation the sheriff learned he had moved from Sedalia and he notified the Kansas City officers where he could be found.

DAYS ARE COOL
COMPARED TO 1936

These July days are considered cool in comparison with the sizzling hot temperatures endured a year ago. Nights have been comfortable for slumber and while many may complain of the heat during mid-day or the afternoon they will feel relieved on reading some of the temperatures of July 1936.

A year ago July 9 it was 101 degrees above zero; 103 on the tenth and eleventh; 104 July 12; 108 July 13 and the following for dates up to the 20th: July 14—110; 15—114; 16—108; 17—108; 18—110; 19—104; 20—94. From the drop to 94 on July 20 the temperatures the latter part of the month ranged from 101 up to 109 degrees the last day of the month being 101 degrees.

No rain fell during the month with the exception of a light shower, scarcely noticeable on July 20. On July 28 precipitation measured one and a fifth inches. Under a blazing sun and hot dry winds crops wilted and the dry hot weather caused extensive damage and heavy losses to crops.

MAYOR BAGBY TO GIVE BROADCAST ON SEDALIA

Tuesday, July 13, KFRL, in Columbia, will present the first of a series of salutes to Missouri cities. Sedalia will be the first city saluted and Mayor Julian H. Bagby will be the guest speaker. The program will highlight events in the history of the city, past and present.

SOVIETS MAKE A THREAT AGAINST
THE JAPANESEWarn of Open Warfare
If Troops Not Kept Out of Siberia

By The Associated Press.

MOSCOW, July 9.—The Soviet government threatened Japan with open warfare today if Japanese troops do not keep out of Siberia.

The newest development in the dispute over the ownership of the Semnuu and Bolshoi islands in the Amur river along the Siberian-Manchoukuo boundary in the Far East came after the Japanese ambassador told Russia that border clashes were too numerous.

Soviet Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff promptly rejected this protest as "untrue." An official Russian communiqué accused Japan of failure to evacuate troops from the barren sandpits in the river.

Litvinoff told the Japanese Ambassador, Mamoru Shigemitsu, that the islands belonged to Russia.

A clash at the islands on June 30 between Soviets and Japanese-Manchoukuo troops brought an agreement between Japan and Russia for mutual withdrawal of forces.

Litvinoff also requested Shigemitsu to inform his government that alleged invasions of Siberian territory by Japanese-Manchoukuo forces were occurring too frequently.

He added that Japanese planes were making repeated flights across the frontier of Siberia from the Japanese-Insured Manchoukuo state.

The communiqué said that Litvinoff, at this point, warned the Japanese ambassador: "Soviet frontier troops have firm orders in no case to allow Japanese and Manchurian troops to cross Soviet frontiers, and upon their appearance on Soviet territory to drive them out with all means."

As an indication of the stiffening of the Soviet attitude in the crisis, Litvinoff told Shigemitsu frankly, the communiqué said, that Soviet troops had "to drive out a Japanese and Manchurian detachment from Mount Vinokurka on the Soviet side where Japanese and Manchurian ammunition was found as well as blood—an indication Japanese had been wounded in the fighting."

(According to reports from Hsin-king, capital of Manchoukuo, the battle referred to took place Monday and resulted in 20 Soviet casualties while only one Japanese was killed and two wounded.)

CONVICT KILLED IN PRISON FARM BREAK

By The Associated Press.

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., July 9.—(P)—One convict was killed and a prison guard was wounded when nine desperate prisoners broke from East-ham prison farm Thursday and exchanged shots with pursuers.

Officials expressed belief W. H. Bybee, leader of a June 22 break in which 19 convicts escaped, planted rifles with which today's escapes made their getaway.

Three of the fugitives kidnaped a man named Dunlap and fled in his car. Pressed closely by City Marshal Harry Domeneque of Trinity, they turned on him with guns, stole his automobile and continued their flight with Dunlap as hostage.

PRESIDENT TELLS OF SAVING PLAN

WASHINGTON, July 9.—President Roosevelt said today his attempt to balance the budget by June 30, 1938, by saving 10 per cent of total appropriations on flexible items would involve no discharge or furloughing of government employees.

He told a press conference he wanted to make this plain to relieve the minds of the large number of federal workers. He added he expected the largest saving would be accomplished through not filling vacancies.

The next largest saving, he said, would be effected by slowing up expenditures in certain directions to delay completion of various operations until the following year.

The President said other savings could be made in travel by government employees, on long distance telephone calls and elimination of unnecessary printing.

He remarked he had informed heads of 28 independent agencies yesterday that at the government was planning entirely too much material.

During his discussion of economy plans, Mr. Roosevelt said he believed government employees should have the right to join as many unions as they wish, but that it is up to congress to fix wage scales.

Asked whether he favored federal employees joining unions for collective bargaining, he said there was no bargaining involved with the government as to compensation and therefore the question does not arise.

OVER HALF OF A HUNDRED HEAT WAVE VICTIMSDeath By Drowning Takes Toll of a Score of Lives
In Nation

CHICAGO, July 9.—The death toll from the season's longest heat wave mounted steadily today as the sun-baked northern tier of states look in vain for relief.

At least 84 persons succumbed to the merciless temperatures that extended from the Atlantic coast to eastern Washington. There were hundreds of prostrations. Death by drowning claimed scores of persons among the ten of thousands who sought relief at beaches.

The stifling heat pushed toward the Pacific coast, Walla Walla, Wash., sweltered in 96 degree weather yesterday and Yakima, Wash., recorded 94. Lamar, Colo., and Atlantic, Iowa, with readings of 102, were the hottest spots east of the Rockies.

Little change in temperature was in sight outside of New York and New England where slightly cooler weather was forecast.

The greatest incidence of death was reported in Massachusetts where the toll attributed to the heat wave rose to 21. Michigan counted 16; New York 10; Connecticut 9; Illinois 7; Maine 5; Rhode Island 4; Minnesota and Nebraska, 3 each; Vermont 2; Indiana, Ohio, Iowa and West Virginia, 1 each.

Temperatures in the upper nineties were general in the middlewestern farm belt and in numerous eastern cities.

Boston reported 99 degrees, the highest July 8 mark in weather bureau records there. Elgin, Ill., recorded a seasonal top of 99.

Albany, N. Y., Dodge City, Kas., and Rapid City, S. D., reported readings of 98 degrees. Detroit, La. Crosse, Wis., Davenport, Sioux City, and Dubuque, Iowa, Omaha, Neb., and Wichita, Kas., 96; Milwaukee, Des Moines, Kansas City, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Washington, 94. The mark was the highest of the year at the nation's capital.

Leadville, Colo., high in the Rockies, was chilled with a night temperature of 38.

WOMAN CHARGES
SHE WAS BEATEN

DETROIT, July 9.—Mrs. Catherine Gelles told a national labor relations board trial examiner today she was knocked down, kicked and beaten by three men during an attempt to distribute union pamphlets near the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant on May 26.

Testifying at a NLRB hearing into a complaint charging the Ford company with unfair labor practices, Mrs. Gelles said she had done nothing to provoke an attack on her.

Louis J. Colombo, Sr., chief counsel for the Ford Company, made no attempt to interrupt her testimony before Examiner John T. Lindsay.

Earlier Lindsay had clashed with Colombo over the attorney's constant objections to testimony of Arnold Freeman, Detroit Times photographer, who said "hoodlums" participated in the rout of United Automobile Workers' organizers at the plant May 26 and added that one man was pointed out to him as "leader of the down-river gang."

Colombo confirmed his cross-examination of Freeman to establishing the photographers' membership in the American Newspaper Guild, an affiliate of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

Mrs. Gelles said she became involved in the fighting when she went to the assistance of a man who was being attacked and kicked.

Strike Zone

By The Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio, July 9.—Steel union leaders called a new strike today in Republic Steel Corporation's plant here in a move to reform lines punctuated by reopening of mills two weeks ago, but the hours passed and workers apparently ignored the call.

George Simcox, vice president of the steel workers organizing committee unit at the Republic plant, announced the new strategy. Tom White, president of the lodge, confirmed the call.

Philip Murray, S. W. O. C. chairman, said at Pittsburgh he had not heard of the move planned at Youngstown and declined comment.

Republic reported yesterday that 6,200 men out of a normal force of 6,800 were on duty. Sheet and tube claimed it had 12,500 men at work in two Youngstown plants which have an average daily total of 13,500 at work.

Guards Still on Duty
Ohio National Guardsmen continued on duty at plants here, and at other Ohio steel strike centers. Republic reopened the last of its Ohio mills in Cleveland yesterday.

Governor Martin L. Davey of Ohio asked about rumors that the National Guard would be withdrawn from Cleveland Sunday, said there was "no announcement at this time."

Cleveland police officials put the detective force back on eight-hour shifts, but uniformed officers continued on duty 12 hours. Sheriff Martin L. O'Donnell at Cleveland reopened to the public streets which pass recently recently reopened Republic plants. Meanwhile the first steel in six weeks was made at Republic's Corrugated-McKinney plant.

Police announced they found six sticks of dynamite with a fuse in the grass behind the CIO office near the Republic Steel plant at Youngstown.

LARGER CORN CROP
THIS YEAR FORECAST

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The agricultural department said today a 2,571,851,000 bushel corn crop and an 882,287,000 bushel wheat crop were indicated by July 1 conditions.

Farms produced 1,529,327,000 bushels of corn last year, while the five-year (1928-32) average production was 2,554,772,000 bushels.

The total indicated wheat crop, combining winter and spring, compared with 626,461,000 bushels last year and an 864,532,000-bushel five-year average.

Department forecasters estimated winter wheat production at 663,641,000 bushels, compared with 648,597,000 indicated a month ago, 519,912,000 produced last year, and 628,220,000, the five-year average.

They said the indicated production of all spring wheat was 218,630,000 bushels, compared with 197,448,000 bushels last year, and 241,312,000, the five-year average.

Durum wheat production was estimated at 29,556,000 bushels, compared with 8,175,000 last year, and 53,687,000 the five-year average.

The crop of other spring wheat was forecast at 189,080,000 bushels, compared with 99,273,000 last year, and 187,625,000, the five-year average.

The condition July 1 and indicated production of winter wheat for Missouri: 60 per cent of normal and 38,204,000 bushels.

ALL TIME RECORD
ON WHEAT RECEIPTS

By The Associated Press.

KANSAS CITY, July 9.—Record breaking shipments of wheat continued to arrive here today as wheat future prices slipped downward under the pressure of hedging sales.

Today's arrivals totaled 1,374 cars, surpassing yesterday's total of 1,329 cars, previously the greatest number of arrivals since 1931's record day when receipts reached the 1,457 mark.

Receipts this week thus far total 6,920, an all-time record for any similar period. Value of the shipments also reached a new high, wheat prices in 1931 ranging around 50 cents a bushel. This week prices ranged around $1.20.

EXCEED MILLION IN GASOLINE TAXES

By The Associated Press.
JEFFERSON CITY, July 9.—State gasoline tax collections for May totaled $1,065,050, for the first million-dollar May since the motor vehicle fuel tax went into effect in 1925, the state oil department announced today.

This represented an increase of $43,327 over the corresponding month last year.

For the first five months of 1937 collections totaled $4,416,987, an increase of $219,449 over the same period in 1936.

STOLEN AUTO IS RECOVERED WITH
SPEEDY ARRESTSJames Rutter and George Hall Implicated In Car Robbery

Charges of larceny of an automobile were filed against James Rutter, 922 East Sixth street, and George Hall, the latter colored, in the court of Judge Charles W. Bente, sitting as ex-officio justice of the peace, in connection with the stealing of an automobile Thursday night. Their preliminary hearings will be held in about two days. Both are held in the county jail in default of bonds of $2,500 each.

Hall was the first to be arrested, and upon being questioned by the police, implicated Rutter. Both were in custody of the officers within an hour after the car was stolen and more than half an hour before the owner of the vehicle knew his automobile was gone.

The automobile, a 1937 Chevrolet Sedan, belonged to Effus Carter, manager of the Western Auto Parts store.

Special Officer Ford of the Missouri Pacific was investigating the theft of some brass and was told to watch for a carload of the metal which was reported by an unnamed person, would be delivered in Sedalia Thursday night.

Meanwhile the party to whom the brass was to be sold told Ford that he also knew of a stolen car, which was to be delivered with the brass and that the thief was awaiting payment.

Ford then went to the police station and notified night chief Lawrence Englund. The two went to the home of George Hall, Negro, who had been named by the informant as the man who delivered the stolen goods. Hall was released from the state penitentiary last month.

Hall came out of the house when the officers arrived and believing they were bringing the money for the stolen car said that he had already delivered it. Patrolman Anderson had meanwhile taken charge of the stolen car.

Ford asked Hall the price of the car. Hall asked three hundred dollars for it.

He was then arrested.

Taken to the police station and questioned by Prosecutor Jobe Harned Englund and Officer Brooks, Hall said that the car had been stolen by James Rutter, white, and had been given to him for delivery.

Rutter was arrested at his home by Officers Anderson and Streeter and brought to the police station. Rutter admitted stealing the car and giving it to Hall for delivery.

Letter Carriers at Maryville.
MARYVILLE, Mo., July 9.—(P)—An address by J. Ed Cooper, superintendent of rural mails, Washington, was on the program today for the annual state rural letter carriers and auxiliary conventions. Officials expected registration to reach 1,500.

BUT THEY DON'T DO IT

"There are sufficient democratic nations in the world to come to an understanding whereby they could impose peace; they themselves could make the League of Nations work," said Arthur Haday, a British spokesman at Geneva.

What he said is true enough, but the democratic nations do not come together for the purpose. They are all playing politics. They adopt high-sounding resolutions and let them go at that. They branded Italy an outlaw among nations for its rape of Ethiopia, but did nothing to halt the Italian ruthlessness in Haile Selassie's empire.

Japan was first to set the League of Nations at naught in its high-handed performance in establishing the puppet state of Manchoukuo in defiance of the findings by a commission representing the league. Italy cited that case in answering the League of Nations in defense of its Ethiopian adventure. Germany paid no attention to the League of Nations when it proceeded to rearm the Rhineland.

The democratic nations of the world would be formidable, respected, if they should insist upon obedience to their decrees promulgated by the League of Nations. They have the latent power, but they choose not to exert it. At the moment the League of Nations is nothing more than a name. It meets and it talks, talks when it meets, but its decrees are polite gestures. Japan, Italy and Germany accept them as such.

BIG FEET

Paralleling what seems to be a natural tendency, this country needs to revise its notion of foot beauty. The ideal "tiny" foot, perhaps influenced by the foolish practice of foot-binding among Chinese women, is becoming a thing of the past because of modes of living and recreation which will not be given up easily.

There is authority for the observation. Ruth Kerr of New York, the only woman in the country who styles shoes for both men and women, says the sizes are getting bigger continuously. "The average woman's foot has expanded from 5½ to size 7," she says, "and the average man's foot size is now 10½ as compared with former 9½."

Now for a campaign of deduction to increase esthetic appreciation of big feet. That would be much more sensible than to multiply cripples by crowding No. 7 feet into size 5½ shoes.

THE HORSE MARKET

Tourists through the country districts are remarking about the unusual number of "cute little colts" seen in the pasture. For many years a colt was something of a novelty on nearby farms.

Now there is a demand for horses and prices are high. It is estimated that more than 900,000 colts will be born in the United States this year. But the colts of 20 years ago are old horses now and the authorities predict that 1,000,000 of them will die during the year.

Nevertheless, they say the horse is coming back.

GAME NOT WORTH THE CANDLE

The hope is profound, of course, in the heart of every American that Amelia Earhart and her navigator will be found alive and uninjured and brought safely to port as a result of the widespread and costly search for them that is now under way, but that hope does not mitigate the growing conviction that the time has come to stop stunt overseas flying for the public good, if not for private safety.

It may have been Miss Earhart's privilege to fly around the world over uncharted airways "for fun." She said before she left, points out the Columbia Tribune, that the responsibility was all hers. But now that she is lost the responsibility is not hers—it has become the rapidly growing responsibility of the already overburdened American taxpayer. He is paying to send a great and costly airplane carrier some 4,000 miles to join the search for her. He is supplying airplanes, fuel oil, men and countless other costly adjuncts for this search, and the price is moving well along toward the million dollar mark.

Now that Miss Earhart has gotten herself into this plight, there is none who would begrudge a penny of this expenditure, but the United States and other nations of the world are moving and should move toward a halt to this sort of "fun." Regardless of its humanitarian aspects, it is too costly to the taxpayers, and does its damage to the cause of aviation as well.

Both the United States and Canada some weeks ago put down a firm foot on a proposed air race to Paris, a promotional event of a world's fair at the French capital. Authorities of both countries pointed out that pilots and planes improperly prepared were likely to enter, and that aviation would not be served by the race in any event. How much better would it have been had there been a similar ruling for Miss Earhart's flight "for fun."

Now that she is lost, let's find her if it's possible, but let's spend the time and money and effort in the future in real honest-to-goodness development of air service, efforts like those of the American and British liners which flew the Atlantic yesterday, instead of trips around the world "for fun."

TEXAS FEELS SPANISH WAR

From the Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

How war, even so far away as in Spain, comes home to Texas farmers appears in the decline of cotton exports to that country since the tragic conflict began last summer. From August, 1935, through March, 1936, 170,000 bales of American cotton, valued at $11,262,000, went to the Spanish market. In the corresponding period of 1936-1937, these figures fell to 279 bales and less than $20,000. Such is the consequence to southern agriculture of a civil war in one of the lesser nations, thousands of miles across the sea.

War is always hurtful, not only to those who wage it, but to the whole world which is linked by trade. The wealth it destroys, the energies it dissipates, the producing power and consuming power it undermines, are a loss to civilization, as much so as property swept away by a disastrous fire is a loss to the community. Small groups here and there may profit temporarily from traffic in munitions and supplies, but the people as a whole suffer from its waste and ruin. War is fatal to prosperity and, if continued in this era of close interdependence of the nations, will be fatal to civilization.

SALINE BAROMETER

Steel is the proverbial barometer of the state of manufacturers in the United States. But the Federal Bureau of Mines now rises to remark that, with the steady development of the chemical industry, steel has a rival in its prophetic role.

The nomination of salt for that post will surprise many who think of the mineral solely in its relation to food. But it is estimated that the average American uses only six pounds of salt a year as a condiment, and probably not more than another six in the preservation of his share of foodstuffs, whereas the per capita consumption of salt last year reached sixty-one pounds.

Direct and indirect table use of salt varies little from year to year. The ups and downs in consumption are caused principally by fluctuating demand for chlorine, soda and other important chemicals. Few minerals play so varied a role in our everyday life. That its sale last year reached 8,829,000 tons, eleven per cent more than in 1935, betokens widespread betterment in the chemical industry.

Profanity is now out in the Italian army. The first sergeant who silently exudes moral force is something new in explosives.

The older, ethical warrior labored under a disadvantage: When licked in battle, he couldn't salvage the national honor by murdering children.

CHAPTER 49

THERE CAME the sound of heavy footsteps unsteadily descending the stairs of the barge, and Mrs. Joplin glanced toward the door and smiled.

"That'll be Alf," she said to Jacqueline. "Now just you leave it to me, dearie, an' I'll see what I can do with 'im. If you 'adn't caught 'im one on the napper..."

"Lil!" It was Joplin's voice, bawling.

"Comin', Alf!" called Mrs. Joplin, and, as the heavy footsteps lumbered away, she turned again to the girl. "E's been boozing, right enough," she confided, "but maybe it'll be all right. Twenty-five hundred dollars tomorrow morning..."

"Provided I leave this boat with in half an hour, Mrs. Joplin. That's the offer."

"Lil!"

The bawling voice, more distant this time, sounded again, and Mrs. Joplin moved to the door. As she opened it, there came a crash, and her name was bawled again. Then came crash upon crash, as though Mr. Joplin were throwing the furniture about. A moment later there followed the noise of china being furiously shattered and a series of deep metallic sounds which suggested that sauce pans were being flung with a reckless disregard of direction.

"That's Alf," exclaimed Mrs. Joplin, rather breathlessly. "E's been boozing and now 'e's rampan'g, an' I suppose I'll ave to go an' 'it 'im."

There came another resounding crash, followed by a series of booming bangs which suggested that Alfred was shooting at goal with the tin bath. Mrs. Joplin suddenly turned, and, with her ample mouth set in a grim hard line, went striding off in the direction of the commotion.

As she went, Jacqueline sprang to her feet and stood for a few moments, listening. She heard the hubbub increase, heard Mrs. Joplin's voice added to the din, and stepped quickly to the door.

"Alf! Give over, Alf!" Mrs. Joplin shouted. "Kick that bath away, Alf, an' I'll 'it you, that's what I'll do!"

Another resounding clang, and Jacqueline concluded that Alfred, despite the threat, had taken another shot at goal. But she did not wait to discover the consequences. She heard Mrs. Joplin's "You widge!" could you? Alf, right! Now you're in for it, Alf, 'ot an' strong," and then she stepped quickly to the foot of the steps, grasped the handrail, and went noiselessly up. There was no particular hurry, she told herself. Just for the moment Mrs. Joplin, engrossed in coping with a rampan'g Alfred, had forgotten her, and it was wiser to go cautiously and run no risk of making any noise that might attract attention. Not that there was much chance, she reflected with a smile, of any noise she might make penetrating to Mrs. Joplin's ears through that hubbub.

But, as she thought came to her, the hubbub below ceased—ceased with such startling abruptness that involuntarily Jacqueline paused and stood motionless half-way up the stairs, straining to break the sudden stillness.

No sound reached her, and, realizing in a flash that she was wasting precious seconds, she again crept cautiously up the steps. She reached the top and hesitated. She was aware of a swift premonition of danger threatening her, as though some sixth sense had flashed a warning to her brain. Instinctively she glanced behind her, and there, at the foot of the steps, not more than a couple of yards behind her, she saw Joplin's face. His eyes were fixed on her, alert and watchful; his chin was thrust forward and his lips drawn back as though he were snarling. He was moving slowly and cautiously toward her, with the noiseless movement of a cat preparing to spring.

With a startled gasp she sprang onto the deck and ran blindly toward the side of the barge. She heard Joplin's sudden rush up the steps, and the sound of his heavy footsteps on the deck, felt something strike her toe, staggered, and crashed headlong. Instantly she scrambled to her feet. She heard a thud, caught a glimpse of Joplin sprawling on the deck, and was suddenly aware of fingers closing around her left ankle. Before they had gripped it firmly, however, she swung right foot, lashed at the gripping fingers with her heel, heard a grunt of pain, and felt the fingers loosen their grasp. With a sudden jerk she wrenched her ankle free. A second later she was over the side and saw the black swirling water rushing to meet her.

The water was very cold, and she seemed to go down to a tremendous depth. But she always said that, barring fish, snags and torpedoes, she was as much at home in the water as anything that ever entered it, and there was a good deal of truth in the statement.

As she plunged below the surface it flashed into her mind that there was no more cause for panic because she was in the water as a result of jumping off a barge at night into the River Thames, than if she was there because she had jumped off the diving board of a bathing pool in daylight. She gave a couple of vigorous kicks, rose to the surface, took a few swift strokes toward the lights on the bank, and glanced back.

She saw the barge a few yards away, and on the deck a black figure silhouetted against the sky, she saw Joplin. He was poised, ready to plunge in after her, and she was just about to turn away and devote all her energies to the task of swimming when she saw Mrs. Joplin's massive figure appear and move swiftly toward her husband. She saw Mrs. Joplin grasp his arm and pull him backward, and Joplin straighten himself and turn toward her. For a few seconds they stood there, two gesticulating silhouettes; and then, as the light turned away, stepped to the side, and again seemed on the point of jumping, he was again jerked backward. Mrs. Joplin's arm swung, her fist made contact with her husband's jaw, and he suddenly seemed to sag and waver and crumple, and was transformed into a shapeless mass on the deck close to Mrs. Joplin's feet.

Jacqueline swam. But she had not swum many strokes before it dawned on her that swimming in the Thames at Greenwich was a very different proposition from swimming in a bathing pool. She noticed that already, although she had been in the water only a few seconds, she had drifted down a considerable distance and was well out of her direct course for the bank. A few more strokes and she realized that her progress downriver was far more rapid than her progress toward the bank. She remembered with just the faintest twinge of uneasiness Mrs. Joplin's remark about being fished out at Tilbury. As she swam on, putting every ounce of energy into her strokes, her uneasiness increased. She was making practically no headway, and the tide seemed to be doing as it liked with her, sweeping her along irresistibly, and never allowing her to get a foot nearer to the land.

The water was terribly cold, too. Her hands were already numb, and each time that she bent an elbow it seemed harder to straighten her arm again, as if her joints were rapidly becoming rigid. Her skirt became appallingly heavy and her feet felt like two lumps of lead that grew heavier with every kick. For some minutes she struggled on, gasping for breath and trying desperately to keep arms and legs moving with some sort of rhythm. Then suddenly came the conviction that she could struggle no more, that this weariness and numbness must have their way and the river do as it liked with her. She had no more strength to fight. She just wanted to stop struggling and close her eyes and listen to the singing in her ears. She was drowning, she supposed. But it didn't seem to matter. All that mattered was to be free of this awful strain that was dragging her arms from their sockets.

She stopped swimming and turned onto her back. It was over now. She would swim no more, go without protest wherever the river wanted to take her. Tilbury, she supposed. Mrs. Joplin had said so, and she ought to know. It would please Colonel Lutman, anyway. He would marry her mother and get the money and live happily ever after. Probably not with her mother—not for long, anyhow. And then her mother would shed floods of tears and go to see Charles and say it was all his fault because a proper lawyer would have known that Colonel Lutman was a scoundrel, and what did Charles care if she did have to spend the rest of her life in cheap hotels where the bath water was never hot?

Poor old Charles! Funny name, "Mouthpiece." But, of course Charles never should have had a musty old office in Rotherhithe and been known as The Mouthpiece. He should have had a grand office, with clerks and typewriters and things, and worn spats, and hunted with the Master of the Rolls. Something had messed Charles up. Not drunk. She had inspected his nose very carefully and there were no signs of drink—none of those little purple veins such as she had detected in Colonel Lutman's nose. It was a pity about old Charles. She would have liked to see him again—just to do what she had always so badly wanted to do: run her fingers through his hair and touch that little mole on his left temple.

A new sound reached her through the singing in her ears. She was aware of it for some time before she consciously paid attention to it. Then, as she concentrated on it, she realized that it was a vaguely familiar sound. She had heard it quite recently—when she was on the barge, looking through the window just before Joplin had grabbed her. Yes, she remembered now: it was the chugging of a motor boat's engine. It was getting louder, too—much louder. The boat must be quite close, coming toward her. If she could she must somehow muster the energy to shout.

She made a supreme effort, opened her eyes, and saw the boat, only a few yards away. She saw its lights and a figure seated in the stern. Somehow she managed to shout and wave a hand. She saw the boat's nose turn and come toward her in a sweeping curve. The next moment her hands had grasped the side, and she was clinging to it desperately.

The figure seated in the stern stood up. She felt her wrists seized.

"Loose your grip," said a man's voice, "and I'll pull you in."

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

WASHINGTON—A new plan to settle the steel strike has been laid before the President by Dr. J. R. Steelman, recently appointed head of the U. S. Conciliation Service.

It specifies that the President should ask the Governors of Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania to propose to the Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown steel companies that they accept the settlement arranged recently by Governor M. C. Townsend of Indiana between Inland Steel and the C. I. O.

Under this formula, there was no agreement directly between the employer and the striking union. Instead, both wrote letters to Governor Townsend accepting certain terms.

These provide that Inland will bargain collectively with the C. I. O. for the workers which it represents in the company's plants, and will not discriminate against employees because of their C. I. O. membership. Beyond this the company agreed to nothing. The settlement is a distinct defeat for the C. I. O. since it represents a complete breakdown from the union's demands for a contract.

Despite this trouncing, Steelman has informed the President he is confident the C. I. O. will accept similar terms with the other three obdurate independent steel firms. Privately, government labor officials are of the opinion that C. I. O. leaders now are anxious to make a "strategic retreat," and that any proposition enabling them to wind up the steel controversy with a semblance of recognition will be accepted.

This does not mean that the union is giving up hope of forcing Deal publicity men the works, and he leaves little to the imagination.

"It may be a necessity of modern bureaucracy," he writes, "but I am yet to be persuaded that responsible officials are incapable of speaking for themselves. If a policy is adverse to public interest, the sooner it is revealed and critically examined, the better will be the ultimate results to taxpayers and the agency itself."

"Too often bluffing becomes bluffing," he declares, "and impairs the confidence of newspapermen in government press representatives."

Mercey characterizes the various technical services of the press bureau, such as movies, photographs, posters and printed publications, as "muddled," and asserts they are in urgent need of improved craftsmanship. He holds, in fact, that the entire system of government press agency should be drastically overhauled.

Duplication that costs taxpayers tens of thousands of dollars, Mercey declares, is rampant. As an illustration, he cites thirteen agencies that pour out a stream of press releases on the same subject.

Note—A recent study by the Brookings Institution estimated the number of government press agents at 300 and their annual salary bill at $500,000.

"Oh, I don't know yet," he replied. "But Franklin, I have arrangements to make."

"Oh, everything will be all right. Don't worry about me, Mother."

"But I cannot order the car without knowing," Mrs. Roosevelt persisted.

"Oh all right, all right," replied her son, still trying to concentrate on his deskwork. And finally his mother, a little discouraged, went out.

Merry-Go-Round

Three candidates are in the field for National Commander of the American Legion. They are Ray Kelly of Detroit, Daniel Dougherty of Massachusetts, and Vincent Carroll of Pennsylvania. The election will be held at the conclusion of the Legion's convention in New York City late in September. If Congress adjourns in time to permit him to make the trip, Representative George H. Tinkham, wealthy Boston bachelor, plans to visit the Gobi desert. Tinkham has hunted big game all over the world but says the Gobi desert trip is for sight-seeing purposes only. His eyes are no longer good enough for hunting.

Prefers The Southern Swains To Hollywood "Heart Breakers"

HOLLYWOOD, July 9.—You can have your Hollywood men, says Patricia Wilder, and for hers she'll take a Georgia cracker.

The film boys may be pretty handy at breaking hearts, Miss Wilder, screen and radio actress, said, but they don't know how to act to wards a nice girl.

"Hollywood men? You can have them," Miss Wilder declared today. "They know less about how to treat a girl than the boys in grammar school down here where I came from in Maco, Georgia.

"Glamour? Good manners? Savoir faire? These movie heart-breakers lack them all once they are off the screen. They have good looks, but a girl soon tires of that in a man."

Warning to her subject, Miss Wilder—her friends call her "Honey-suckle"—proceeded to compare the filmland species of male to the southern gentleman. It was pretty rough on the home guard.

"Down south they make a fuss about a girl," she drawled. "The boys make you feel as if you're something nice and important. You get the habit of having men treat you with respect. That tradition about southern chivalry is more than a tradition—it's a fact.

"The worst kind of backwoods Georgia man is chivalrous. He might murder the English language, and he might even murder a man or two, but he still knows how to behave toward a lady."

Now in Hollywood . . . "What happens? First of all, if you're lucky enough, or unlucky enough to get there, some bored fellow in a casting office will treat you like a leper—or else he'll want to kiss you five seconds after he meets you.

"Then if you get a part, you'll have some little assistant director getting into your hair."

Miss Wilder had the reasons all figured out. The deplorable attitude of men toward women in the film industry, she said, is caused by the commercialized concept of beauty.

The casting director, the director, the producer—all of them are wont to look upon girls much as a cattle-buyer scrutinizes a load of beef.

And her criticism wasn't sour grapes. She's doing nicely, both on the screen and air, but her ambition, she said, is to get enough money to get out of Hollywood, buy a farm in Georgia, marry a southerner and raise a bunch of boys and consider men pretty wonderful creatures.

SEDALIA WOMAN HAS TALL CORN

Mrs. J. C. Fry, 703 East Seventeenth street, is boasting of her corn "crop," next to her home where the yellow dent corn has already obtained the height of a few inches more than nine feet.

"Kansas is always boasting of its corn and wheat crops, and their recent boast was of seven feet corn, so I think Missouri is far surpassing them with my nine foot corn stalks," Mrs. Fry said.

The corn has just started to tassel and it is expected to reach ten feet high before it is fully developed.

QUICK RESULTS BY CLASS "AD" FOR DOG

LOST—Black fox terrier, white spot on breast. Take to Police Station. Reward.

The above "ad" appeared in the Democrat Wednesday evening and this morning the dog was taken to the police station to be turned over to its owner Mrs. Frank Lindsey whose husband is employed on a pipeline near Boonville.

Miss Mildred Bahner, fourteen years old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Bahner, residing just north of Sedalia on highway No. 65 noticed the dog in their front yard this morning about 6:30 o'clock and took charge of him. She notified the police and Officers Emmett O'Brien and Clarence Harrell drove to the residence.

The officers told Miss Bahner the dog's name was "John Luke" and upon calling the name to the dog he readily responded. The officers took the dog to police headquarters and notified Mrs. Lindsey.

Miss Bahner received the reward.

CLEANSE LIVER

Poisonous Acids Tear Away at Your Health and Vitality

Stomach, Bowels Affected

Very often people say that liver trouble is the cause of their illness when it is really their stomach or bowels that cause the trouble. Cleansing out these impurities that keep tearing away at your health and vitality permits free flow of the digestive juices, makes the inner four functional organs sweet and clean, and improves the whole system in general.

What OLD KICKATO will do: It will "wake up" your liver, permit the liver to function properly; it will bring out the impurities that cause half-sick feelings and low energy. In cases of completely run-down system OLD KICKATO frequently removes old bile from the liver as black as ink, thus clearing out the impurities that may have contaminated your blood and inter-organs for a long time.

Old Kickato is a special medicine that is compounded to act on all functional organs—stomach, liver and bowels. One ailing organ affects all. Works with your food—gives amazing relief. Get big $1.00 bottle today for only 49cents.

SOCIETY AND CLUBS

Arnst-Eisenhardt Wedding

Miss Mary Eisenhardt, daughter of Mr. J. W. Eisenhardt, became the bride of Charles Arnst, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Arnst on Thursday evening at 8 o'clock, at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Whiprecht, Seventh and Marshall streets.

The Rev. Quincy R. Wright, pastor of the First M. E. church, performed the ceremony before an improvised altar of pink gladioli and white lilies banked with fern and lighted with pink altar candles.

Mrs. Charles Maggard sang, "Because," and "Indian Love Call," accompanied by Mrs. Elvin Lyles, who also played the wedding march.

The bride was dressed in a dusty rose lace dress with brown accessories. Her corsage was pink and white roses. She also wore an antique gold watch that belonged to her great grandmother.

Mrs. James Eisenhardt of Clinton, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore aqua blue lace and a corsage of yellow roses.

Mr. James Eisenhardt, brother of the bride served as best man. Miss Eisenhardt was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. S. G. Whiprecht.

Mrs. S. G. Whiprecht wore a blue and white chiffon dress with a corsage of pink roses, and Mrs. C. S. Arnst, mother of the groom, wore a beige crepe dress with yellow roses.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Arnst will be at home in Independence, Mo.

Miss Mary Eisenhardt, now Mrs. Arnst, has made her home with her aunt and uncle, Mr. S. G. Whiprecht and Mrs. Whiprecht, since the death of her mother in 1923. She graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1933, vice-president of the student body, attended Central Teachers college, Warrensburg, and for the past two years has been cashier at the St. Louis Clothing store.

She is a young woman of special charm, an attractive brunette in appearance, and one who has many friends.

Mr. Arnst graduated from Smith-Cotton high school in 1929, attended the University of Missouri, and received his B. S. degree at the State Teachers College, Warrensburg. He is a young man of ability who is now employed with the Fire stone Tire and Auto Supply Company in Independence.

Out of town guests at the wedding were, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Henderson, Jefferson City; Mrs. J. O. Evans, Kansas City, and Mrs. Ella Wolfe, Kansas City.

Drake-Volk Wedding

Douglas Drake of St. Louis, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Drake, Sedalia and Miss Ruth Marie Volk, St. Louis, daughter of Mrs. Edward Volk, were united in marriage, Thursday, July 8th, at 1:30 by Rev. Dwight Willett at his home.

The bride, a very attractive young woman, wore a gown of printed silk with pink and brown accessories. She wore a corsage of tea roses.

Miss Volk, now Mrs. Drake is a graduate of Yeatman high school, St. Louis, and also attended Colorado agricultural college. She is library assistant at the Washington university library School of Medicine where she has been for the past 11 years. The bride has visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Drake where she has made many friends.

Mr. Drake is a graduate of Sedalia high school, also took two years of accounting in night school in Washington, D. C. Upon leaving Sedalia several years ago Mr. Drake accepted a position with the government at Washington, D. C. He was later transferred to the St. Louis postoffice as postal clerk, where he has been for a number of years.

The couple was attended by Miss Telitha Drake, sister of the groom and Finis Kirkman, both of Sedalia.

After the wedding the bridal party proceeded to the home of the groom's sister, Miss Telitha Drake, 620 West Fifth street where the immediate family waited. After congratulations lunch was served. The wedding was very quiet due to the illness of the groom's sister Miss Arwana Drake.

The couple will leave July 21st on their honeymoon for a tour of the east, and will be at home to their friends at 3715 Palm street, St. Louis. Their many friends and acquaintances will wish them much happiness. At a late hour the couple left for their home, all wishing them lots of happiness.

While celebrating the wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Drake they also celebrated the thirty-sixth wedding anniversary of Mr. Drakes parents.

Luncheon-Bridge.

Mrs. J. Waldman and Mrs. Harry Waldman entertained with a luncheon-bridge at the Hotel Bothwell this afternoon in honor of Mrs. Harry Milton, who is soon to leave for St. Louis to reside. Mrs. Jerome Wexler, of Chicago, visiting her mother, Mrs. J. Waldman and Mrs. M. B. Kendis, of Kansas City.

Among the thirty guests the out of town guests were: Mrs. I. Klein and Mrs. Joseph Weiner from St. Louis, and Mrs. Dave Cohen from Gary, Ind.

Honor Visitors at Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Smith of 1117 West Sixteenth street, Sunday had as dinner guests Mr. and Mrs. Waldo Cook and daughter, Constance Ann, of Liberty, Mo., Mr. and Mrs. Elvin E. Smith and son, John Elgin, Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Bohon, Mrs. Cook and daughter remained here for a visit during the week while Mr. Cook returned to Liberty where he conducts a greenhouse.

GIRL SCOUTS MONEY RAISING SOCIAL

The Girl Scouts will have their annual money raising event Saturday night in the nature of an ice cream social on the courthouse lawn. The proceeds raised will be used to pay the rent on their "Little House," which is on a 6-acre woodland track, together with a cabin, and on which they pay an annual rent of $100.

Each year the girls have one money raising event in addition to the drive, and this year they have chosen this way of raising funds. They will serve ice cream and home made cake for ten cents, and invite all their friends to attend.

Music will be furnished during the evening by the Girl Scout orchestra.

CONTINUE INQUIRY IN AMBUSH SLAYING

By The Associated Press.

POCAHONTAS, Ark., July 9.—Sheriff John T. Thompson continued investigation today of the ambush slaying of Eli Shoemaker, bachelor farmer, nine years ago, after ordering the release of Roy Kenner, picked up at Joplin, Mo., and questioned in the case.

Sheriff Thompson said the questioning yesterday brought out no information justifying holding of Kenner.

The sheriff said he hoped to be able to solve the Shoemaker slaying "before long." Joe S. Becker, former county judge, said a quantity of gold coins Shoemaker was believed to have owned had never been found.

AIRPORT MANAGER STILL IN CRITICAL CONDITION

JEFFERSON CITY, July 9.—(AP)—Victor Raithe, manager of the municipal airport here who was seriously injured in an airplane crash last Sunday, remained in a critical condition today after pneumonia had developed.

California

Steps into Everyman's
2 Weeks Vacation
picture

Actually that Two Weeks' Vacation, that means so much to so many of us, is usually 15 days long—with its three Friday evenings, 16 days long, whenever you can slip away Friday evening.

So it is that California, with the new speed, low cost and air-conditioned comfort of western rail travel, has stepped right into the Two Weeks' plans of thousands of men and women who once thought it out of reach of their vacation time and means.

10 Days in California

You may have ten or eleven brilliant, golden days in California. En route, via Santa Fe, there is ample time to include Pullman passengers only. Featured are Fred Harvey dining car meals for 90c per day; courier-nurse and porter service;
free pillows, drinking cups; a lounge car for tourist passengers.

THE SCOUT

As for economical travel, we commend to you Santa Fe's new daily Scout—swift, air-conditioned, for coach and tourist-Pullman passengers only. Featured are Fred Harvey dining car meals for 90c per day; courier-nurse and porter service;
free pillows, drinking cups; a lounge car for tourist passengers.

Via Santa Fe this Summer, there will be many more of those delightful all-expense escorted California Tours.

Ride in comfort and safety—ship your auto if you wish it at destination—the cost is surprisingly low.

May we help you plan your trip?

MONSTER RALLY BE JULY 16-17 AT EXCELSIOR

Governors of Eight States
To Attend Young Democrats Meeting

The largest meeting in the state this year—certainly the largest political meeting—will be held at Excelsior Springs on Friday-Saturday, July 16-17, when the statewide rally of the Young Democratic Clubs of Missouri, Inc., will be in full swing at the Elms Hotel.

Governors of at least eight states have indicated that they will attend. In the absence of Governor Stark, Lieutenant-Governor Frank
G. Harris will welcome the delegates from other states. Visiting governors will be accompanied by delegations of Young Democrats
from their states.

T. E. "Tex" Roberts.

Governor Walter A. Huxman of Kansas will deliver the opening address of the rally at 4 P. M. Friday, July 16, according to T. E.
Roberts, state president of the clubs. Huxman will be introduced by Bob Campbell, president of the Young Democrats of Kansas.

At the noon luncheon Saturday,
"Chip" Robert, secretary of the Democratic National Committee, will speak. Other prominent political leaders of Missouri and visiting states will be introduced.

The final address of the rally will be delivered in the plaza of the Elms Hotel at 2:30 Saturday afternoon by Governor Clyde Tingley, colorful chief executive of New Mexico. He will be introduced by Ben Luchini, president of the Young Democratic organization in that state.

Governor Tingley, accompanied by 17 others prominent in New Mexico politics, will arrive in Kansas City July 16. They have chartered a special car on the Santa Fe Chief for the trip. Tex Roberts, president of the Missouri Young Democrats, and others will meet them to accompany the New Mexico visitors to Excelsior Springs.

In the party with Governor Tingley will be Ben Luchini, president of the New Mexico Young Democrats, J. R. Wrinkle, secretary to the Governor, and several state officials and departmental heads of New Mexico's state government.

Dances and floor shows will be held each night of the rally. R.
W. "Bob" Winn, popular state treasurer of Missouri, will sing. Places are reserved on the program for both old and young Democratic leaders of Missouri and other states, for state officials and members of the Missouri delegation in Congress.

Col. Paul A. Williams.

Much interest is being manifested in the candidacy of Paul A. Williams of Columbia, past president of the Missouri Young Democratic Clubs, for National President, according to T. E. Roberts, Diamond newspaper editor, who is now president of the Missouri organization.

Williams, a colonel on the staff of Governor Lloyd C. Stark, is 34 years of age, married and lives at Columbia, where he conducts an accounting office. He was head of the Young Democratic organization during the last campaign, and directed the activities of the more than 40,000 members of the clubs in every county of the state.

Meet of Junior Maccabees

The next meeting will be July 20
at the home of Nellie Eva and Melba Belle Alderman.

7th Engagement of Kiddies Revue at Uptown Sunday

With an array of new talent, a few old favorites, all new costumes, new jokes, new song and dance numbers, the "Kansas City Kiddies" return to the Uptown Theatre in Sedalia for their seventh engagement Sunday, July 11th. Never before has an act played so many return dates in a theatre in Sedalia.
People never tire of seeing the clever children. They always have something new and interesting to offer.

Among the many new names with this number seven unit will be Bervilly Jean Mott who has become known in Kansas City as the "Jane Withers double." Mr. Lee feels he has another find in a clever little comedian named Marian King who sings and dances in a most refreshing manner, also a new acrobatic dancer named Virginia Dade promises to be a sensation.

All dressed up in new costumes, and with five dancing new dance routines, the Five Dancing Darlings will return to again prove what really worth-while talent they possess.
They do a gay minstrel number entitled "All God's Children Got Rhythm."

GREEN VISIONS DEFEAT FOR THE FORCES OF C. I. O.

Asserts Strikes In Steel Plants Directed By Lewis Lost

WASHINGTON, July 9.—(AP)— William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared last night the steel strikers directed by John L. Lewis have been lost.

"Violent" and undemocratic policies pursued by Lewis and his industrial union allies not only defeated the strikers but did great damage to the labor cause generally, he contended.

In a statement indicating there is little chance of an early peace between the Federation and the Lewis organization, Green added:
"No hostile employer in America has done the cause of organized labor more harm than those who formulated, executed and administered the policies of the Committee for Industrial Organization during the past 18 months."

He continued:
"The violation of agreements, the seizure of public property, violence, riots and uprisings can have no place in the social, economic and industrial life of America."

"No union of workers who resort to the use of such methods can succeed. Failure for those who pursue such a policy is inevitable.
Workers of the United States understand this to be true. They are willing to strike and fight for higher wages and improved conditions of employment but they will do so as law-abiding people through the exercise of every moral, legal and economic right to which they are entitled, in an orderly way and in conformity with the laws of the land."

Green said at the outset that "it now becomes certain" the steel strikes at Chicago, Cleveland, Johnstown, Youngstown, Canton and other cities are lost.

"That means that the Committee for Industrial Organization failed to meet its first major test successfully," he added.

The A. F. of L. leader declared there were two reasons why the strikes were lost:

1. "Only a minority of the steel workers employed at the plants involved were organized when the strikes were called."

2. "Public opinion was aroused because of the violent policies pursued by the C. I. O. in automobile and steel during the past year."

HENRY COTTON TAKES BRITISH OPEN CROWN FOR THE SECOND TIME

By The Associated Press.

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland, July 8.—Tall Henry Cotton, famed British professional, won the British open golf championship today for the second time in four years, posting 280 for the 72-hole tournament after a heavy rainstorm threatened for a time to force replay of the final round.

Cotton, holder of the title in 1934 and acknowledged king of British shot-makers for several years, had the title in the bag for several hours before a ruling by the tournament committee of the Royal and Ancient Club of St. Andrews made it official.

After lengthy conference the officials decided that the fourth and final round would stand as played. This decision gave Cotton, who scored a brilliant par 71 in his last round at the height of the storm, the championship by a margin of two strokes over Reginald Whitcombe, youngest of the three famed British golfing brothers.

Leading the American contingent by virtue of the spectacular finish, was Charley Lacey of Great Neck, Lacey put together rounds of 70-72 over rain-swept Carnoustie today for a 72-hole total of 293.

Charles Whitcombe, aping brother Reginald's 74-76, 150, which was six strokes higher than Cotton's final drive of 73-71-144, only two over par under the worst conditions of the entire tournament, placed a stroke behind Lacey at 294.

Byron Nelson, slim ex-Texan who now is a pro at Reading, Pa., scored a morning 71 and afternoon 74 for fifth place at 296. Then came Ed Dudley, who went off line too much today. Ed's final round was a 75 for 297.

Last year's winner, Alf Padgham, was bracketed at 298, in a tie for seventh, with two fellow-Britons, A. J. Lacey of the Ryder cup squad, and Bill Laidlow. Alone at 299 came Horton Smith, medalist with two sub-par 69's, whose finishing 72 came too late to put him up with the leaders.

Ralph Guldahl and Sam Snead, who finished in that order at the head of the U. S. open field, tied with 300, 19 strokes more than Guldahl required for his record-breaking American triumph last month.

ASSERTS WIFE OF PRESIDENT FOUND A TAX LOOPHOLE

Testimony of Representative Fish Declared "Hearsay" By Vinson

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Representative Fish (R-N.Y.) told a congressional committee today that Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt availed herself of a tax loophole.

Fish said also he believed the committee should call for the income tax returns of James Roosevelt, eldest son of the President; Mrs. Anna Roosevelt Boettiger, the President's daughter; Secretary Morgenthau of the treasury, and his father, Henry Morgenthau, Sr.; Harry L. Hopkins, works progress administrator, and John L. Lewis, chairman of the Committee for Industrial Organization.

He was told in return: "All your testimony is pure and unadulterated hearsay."

Representative Vinson (D-Ky.) made that answer to Fish, who represents President Roosevelt's home district.

The New York congressman, who also suggested committee examination of tax returns of several members of Mr. Roosevelt's personal and official families, said he had been forbidden from submitting written evidence.

Pressed for source Vinson obtained permission for him to submit proof of his charges and Fish agreed to do so.

Pressed by Vinson, a committee member, for his source of information, Fish said a Mr. Darby of 30 Rockefeller Center, New York, had supplied some of the material on which he based his statements.

He said Darby came to his office and said he had photostatic copies of Bahamas holding companies, papers, including one formed by James Roosevelt.

Fish said he did not obtain the copies from Darby because the latter said "they were worth money to him."

The New Yorker, appearing before the joint congressional committee on tax evasion read what he said was a photostatic copy of a contract which Mrs. Roosevelt signed in 1935 for radio broadcasts.

It stipulated, he said, that after each of ten programs the sponsors (The Shelby Arch Preserve Shoe Company) was to pay $3,000 to the American Friends Service Committee, Philadelphia (a charity organization).

"If she can avail herself of a loophole," Fish said, "then anybody else in America can do the same thing."

The radio contract, as read by Fish, provided that Mrs. Roosevelt was to receive a consideration of $1 only for talks on "Women Today."

(At a recent press conference Mrs. Roosevelt denied she had dodged any taxes. "On every penny of income which I received," she said, "I have paid my tax.")

(President Roosevelt, questioned at his press conference today, about Fish's charges, said he did not wish to discuss them at this time.)

Myles F. Lasker, who also signed the contract, Fish said, was to receive $1,000 as commission on each broadcast and $400 was to go to Mrs. Nancy Cook. He did not identify the latter.

"I submit," Fish asserted loudly, "that the contract I read to you for broadcasts by the wife of the President was money she earned as much as money ever was earned by anybody."

Disclaimers Any Ill Will "She directed where it would go and controlled that money," Fish said.

Fish said up to his remarks about Mrs. Roosevelt by asserting that he had not the "slightest degree of ill will personally against the President, or Secretary of the Treasury (Henry Morgenthau, Jr.)."

But the President, he said, issued a statement to congress in the last month in which he said tax loopholes are of recent date and "then went on to indict all who use loopholes as unethical, immoral and indecent."

The statement, he added, was "practically joined in by the secretary of the treasury."

The New York congressman said he planted only, as regarded the President, to file a copy of a statement he claimed the chief executive made in which, Fish contended, Mr. Roosevelt admitted taking advantage of tax law loopholes.

Fish said he did not question Secretary Morgenthau's returns for the period since he became head of the treasury but expressed belief it "would be well" for the committee to investigate his tax affairs before that time.

He said he believed this would reveal formation of family trusts under which property was exchanged "back and forth" between Morgenthau and his wife.

"I would like also," he said, "for the committee to call for the returns of Mr. Morgenthau's father, a Democratic campaign contributor, and see if he hasn't used the same devices so stigmatized before your committee—foreign personal holding companies—in order to avoid taxes."

Fish said one way for the committee to prove the impartiality of the inquiry would be to investigate James Roosevelt's income tax returns "and if it is physically possible, find out if he had any foreign personal holding companies in Nassau in the Bahamas Islands."

The committee also ought to ask for Hopkins' returns "to find out about the sale of books to WPA workers," he said.

In reference to Lewis' returns,

Fish said he was one of the largest contributors to the Democratic party, having donated $500,000 to the last campaign. The congressman raised the question of whether election laws permit such gifts from a labor organization, saying corporations are not permitted to make them.

The congressman contended the committee was being used, through no fault of its own, "as an inquisition against foes of the New Deal."

Told of Rumors NEW YORK, July 9.—Fred W. Darby, public relations counselor of 30 Rockefeller Center, today identified himself as the person who told Representatives Fish he had heard "rumors only" that members of the Roosevelt family had holding companies in the Bahamas.

"I did not tell Mr. Fish I had any photostatic copies of such records, nor did I say I had any records of any other kind," Darby said. "I told Mr. Fish I merely had heard rumors to that extent. I have no photostats or any material regarding possible Roosevelt holding companies."

WHEELER OPENS THE DEBATE ON THE COURT ISSUE

Objects To Other Business So Long as Strict Rules Clamped Down

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.) opened his attack on the administration's court bill in the senate today with an assertion that never before had he seen "such an appeal to the prejudices of the people" he had been made in support of the measure.

Before beginning his argument, Wheeler put into effect his expressed intention to effect the senate to transact no business, outside of privileged matters, as long as the administration clamped down strict rules on debate.

Senator Pope (D-Idaho) sought to introduce his new farm bill, but Wheeler objected.

Wheeler's action indicated a huge legislative jam probably will develop back of the bill.

The Montana senator called attention to a statement issued recently by Senator Minton (D-Ind.) suggesting that Wheeler had disclosed to newspapermen some of the discussion that took place between him and President Roosevelt at the White House Tuesday.

The Montana senator flatly denied he had either directly or indirectly given out a quotation he was said to have made at the conference.

"The senator from Indiana may feel that as he once gave out a statement after conferring with the President that was later denied, I might do the same thing," Wheeler said. "He was apparently referring to an incident early in the session when the White House denied a statement by Minton that it was considering a conference on the constitutional problem."

"This was in accord with the spirit in which the entire debate has been carried on in reference to this issue," Wheeler told the senate. "Never before in my 14 years here have I seen such an appeal to the prejudices of the people as has been made in support of this legislation."

"Never before have I seen such deep feeling aroused. The reason is that it is a fundamental issue that goes to the foundation on which the government is founded."

As the debate opened, Senator Hatch (D-NM) announced an amendment would be offered to the compromise bill to make appointment of new justices to the supreme court mandatory instead of permissive.

No Plan To Limit Terms Meanwhile, President Roosevelt told a press conference today he was not considering sponsorship of a constitutional amendment for compulsory retirement of supreme court justices at the age of 75.

He also gave a negative answer to a question as to whether he was considering a plan to limit the terms of such justices.

Wheeler urged his colleagues not to heed administration leaders who pleaded for party loyalty, saying those who went into office on the President's coattails "will ride out on his coattails, if that is the only reason you are here."

He criticized administration officials for what he called "propagandizing" for the court bill "with money that belongs to the United States and was appointed by Congress."

He accused Secretary Wallace of "trying to line up the farmers" through radio speeches "not because he knew anything about this legislation, because he had money to give out."

"The implication, of course, was that if we didn't pass this measure, the farmers might not be able to get their appropriations," he declared.

Works Progress Administrator Hopkins is "stirring up the people on relief against members of congress who dare to raise their voices against this legislation," he continued, adding that "men have been sent into every state to arouse the labor leaders against us."

Wheeler charged that Majority Leader Robinson (D-Ark) had invoked senate rules limiting debate because the administration was "afraid to debate this measure," and said it was "amazing" such rules had been applied "when there is no question of a filibuster."

Wheeler Gets Sarcastic Wheeler turned sarcastically to what he said were administration contentions that failure to pass the bill would "break the President's heart."

"If we're going to break the President's heart," Wheeler asserted, "we ought to go back and vote on six new justices. This bill isn't what he wanted. He wanted six."

He declared, however, that there was "no difference in principle" between the compromise bill and the original Roosevelt bill for reorganizing the court.

The Montana cited the charge of Senator Guffey (D-Pa.) that Chief Justice Hughes was a "politician."

"If Chief Justice Hughes was such a politician," Wheeler asked, "and politics ought to be barred from the court, why is it that the senate all joined in recommending our distinguished leader (Majority Leader Robinson of Arkansas) for appointment?"

Wheeler told the senate, "we're all politicians. The only politicians that are statesmen are dead. Politicians don't ever become statesmen until they are dead."

He mentioned several Democratic proponents of the bill who had voted for Hughes' confirmation, including Chairman Arhurst (D-Ariz.) of the senate judiciary committee, Senator Barkley (D-Ky.), Senator Harrison (D-Miss), Senator Wagner (D-N.Y.), and Senator Robinson.

Early in his speech Wheeler pledged support for any "reasonable" constitutional amendment offered as an alternative for the court bill.

Taking up another alternative he said that even the pending bill would be "quite a different proposition" if it did not apply to sitting members of the high court.

Be he served emphatic notice that opponents of the bill would not be "intimidated" and that the senate was going to have "a legitimate debate regardless of whether Mr. Farley wants us to or not."

At the same time the Japanese government sent a vigorous protest to the Nanking government over the incident.

It demanded reparations for three noncommissioned officers killed and a dozen soldiers wounded in the conflict and guarantees against similar occurrences in the future.

The cabinet was called to an urgent meeting to consider the situation.

The navy department here instructed the combined fleet in Chinese waters, as well as Sasebo, Yokohama, Kure, Port Arthur, Mako, Chinkai, Malur, and Omihato naval stations to stand by for possible emergencies.

Earlier a spokesman for the war office declared "if the Chinese continue to aggravate the situation the Japanese army will be compelled to resort to drastic action, for which the Chinese must bear full responsibility."

Official quarters indicated the situation between Japan and China was highly explosive.

Peiping university students were reported to be showing a menacing attitude toward Japanese residents.

American marines guarding the United States embassy in Peiping and other foreign guard detachments were declared to be taking precautions to safeguard their nations.

Japanese commentators asserted the clash arose from Chinese intrigues to end Japanese military domination of north China and to destroy the East Hopton autonomous regime based at Tungchow, east of Peiping, which the Japanese protect.

PEIPING, July 9.—(Friday)—(AP)—Heavy fighting between Chinese and Japanese forces near the Marco Polo bridge some ten miles west of here was resumed early today as the authorities apparently were unable to notify the combatants an agreement to halt the conflict had been reached.

The clatter of gunfire was audible here from the bridge sector as fighting was renewed at 4:30 a. m. (2:30 p. m. C. S. T. Thursday) and still continued two and one-half hour later.

A settlement designed to end the conflict was reached here after all-night negotiations but apparently the authorities were not able to get word through their own martial law restrictions to the fighting zone.

It was understood the settlement provided for temporary withdrawal of both Chinese and Japanese forces from the Marco Polo district, which centers about the magnificent bridge over the Yunging river.

(Tokyo dispatches from Peiping reported that the chinese agreed to withdraw their troops from the vicinity of the bridge to points south of the Peiping-Hankow railroad and on the right bank of the Yunging river. The Japanese consented to transfer their forces to points north of the railroad and on the left bank of the river.)

The combat, in which several thousand troops were involved, artillery, machine guns and infantry, swirled around the magnificent 900-foot marble span over the Yunging river and the nearby walled village of Wanpinghsien.

Chinese troops held both and defied Japanese demands for surrender. Chinese casualties were reported to total several score. The Japanese had one killed, several wounded. Both sides said the other fired first during Japanese night maneuvers near Marco Polo bridge.

The conflict was the most extensive between Japanese regulars and Chinese since 1933, when the Japanese army, completing its conquest of Manchuria, swept on south of the great wall to within sight of Peiping.

(In Tokyo a war office spokesman declared "if the Chinese continue to aggravate the situation the Japanese army will be compelled to resort to drastic action.") The Chinese government at Nanking, and at the "summer capital" of Kuling, where Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek and other leaders were—remained calm and hoped for a peaceful settlement.)

flit might lead to still larger military men expressed belief the conflict might lead to still larger military operations.

(It was not an assault against Peiping, where Japan already has an embassy guard of about 1,000 men.)

Fined For Speeding Sam Knapp, arrested by Officer Herman Fischer for speeding, pleaded guilty to Magistrate Charles W. Bente and was fined $5 in police court.

Creamed Comments On S.S. Lesson

God Provides a Leader—Exodus 3:1-12 for Sunday, July 11.

Moses, a born Hebrew slave babe, by accident saved from a watery grave, educated in Egyptian learning, impulsive in early life, developed in self control by forty years experience in shepherd service, where he was called to become Israel's leader.

V. 1. "Now Moses was keeping the flock of Jethro, his father-in-law, the priest of Midian; and he led the flock to the back of the wilderness, and came to the mountain of God, unto Horeb." Moses learned the facts of the wilderness through which later he was to lead the Israelites. Serving well in humble places is a preparation for larger service.

V. 2. "And the angel of the Jehovah appeared unto him in a flame of fire out of the midst of a bush; and he looked and behold, the bush burned with fire, and the bush was not consumed. This was a picture portraying the Israelites in their state of affliction and yet miraculously surviving.

V. 3. "And Moses said, I will turn aside now, and see this great sight, why the bush is not burnt." Moses was a good learner having an inquiring mind. Progress comes as a result of discovering cause and effect.

V. 4. "And when Jehovah saw that he turned aside to see, God called unto him out of the midst of the bush, and said, Moses, Moses, and he said, Here I am. The flame was a symbol of God's divine presence. When God's presence is recognized, then may he hear God's voice. Moses was true to God since he responded to God's will.

V. 5. "And he said, Draw not nigh hither; put off the shoes from off thy feet, for the place where thou standest is holy ground." The first requirement made of Moses was reverence which is the foundation of humility, teachableness and worship.

V. 6. "Moreover he said, I am the God of thy Father, the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob. And Moses hid his face for he was afraid to look up on God." The fact of God is verified in the experience of our fathers back through the ages. This fact is established beyond a doubt. There is such a difference between human nature and God that at first man is fearful when God appears.

V. 7. "And Jehovah said, I have surely seen the affliction of my people that are in Egypt, and have heard their cry by reason of their taskmasters; for I knew their sorrows." God is touched with the sorrows and afflictions of his children and is ever ready to hear the voice of their cry.

V. 8. "And I am come down to deliver them out of the hand of the Egyptians." God comes down to our lowest to lift us to his highest. There is little mention of the part that Moses was to play, but much of what God was about to do.

V. 10. "Come now therefore, and I will send thee unto Pharaoh, and thou mayest bring forth my people the children of Israel out of Egypt." When God has a work to do he calls men to do it so that we are co-workers with God, our great privilege. Every man that is engaged in a good work may claim to be called of God in real service. God's presence makes all rightful work sacred. True success in life is doing a good work well, since God does the needed part man can not do. It is a great inspiration to start out in the morning with the feeling that we are helping God in a worthwhile task.

V. 11. "And Moses said unto God, Who am I that I should go unto Pharaoh, and that I should bring the children of Israel out of Egypt?" Moses felt his inability, humility and unworthiness for such a task; he did not perceive the fact that he was simply the channel through whom God would operate. It is not the means but the power behind the means that counts.

V. 12. "And he said, Certainly I will be with thee; and this shall be a token unto thee; that I have sent thee; when thou hast brought forth the people out of Egypt, we shall serve God upon this mountain." We can count on God to do his part. In Moses case there was provided a proof in that some day this very mountain would be reached while making the journey to the promised land.

Discussion on Questions S.S. Lesson

God Provides a Leader—Exodus 3:1-12 for Sunday, July 11.

1. Why do we not see more of God's presence as did Moses?

2. How may we discover our mission in life?

3. How does God enable us to do the work to which he has called us?

4. What is the difference between a leader and an administrator?

5. How are leaders made?

Clericus says: "God has something to say which is of great value to such as have a listening ear and a reverent soul. It is our chief work to hear God's voice and carry out His purposes."
Lesson Prayer: "Give us a keener sense to detect God's presence everywhere and to catch from His voice guidance in service."

Book Review
The American Year Book, published by Thomas Nelson and Sons, is a record of events and progress for 1936, and prepared under the supervision of the American Year Book Corporation, representing 45 national learned societies, assisted by 156 contributors. It is a compact record of important happenings in America. It is of value to everyone concerned with contemporary events. It may be read as American history and consulted as an encyclopedia of the year.

Birmingham, Ala., is the only city in the United States which gives scholastic credit for Sunday school attendance. Special cards are signed by the Sunday school superintendent and turned over to the child, who, in turn, passes them on to the superintendent of his public school. The child must be present at Sunday school fifteen out of the eighteen Sundays of the semester. One-tenth a credit is given for the hour's work each Sunday morning—the same as any other regular elective course in the schools. At the close of the fall semester, 4,650 students received this special credit.

The 1937 official Catholic directory for the United States, reports 20,959,134 members.

William Hiram Foulkes of the First Presbyterian church, Newark, N. J., was elected the new moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly (U. S. A.) which closed a week's session recently. He appointed A. Edwin Kellogg, of the West End church in New York City as vice-moderator. Dr. Foulkes served last year as national chairman of the Preaching Mission, and this year, which marks the 100th anniversary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, he is chairman of the Centennial Committee, which will seek to raise $1,000,000 for this cause. Dr. Foulkes is also widely known as a radio preacher.

Dr. George S. McCune has been forced to resign as president of the Union Christian College of Korea, because of his refusal to do homage before the shrine of Shinto. The Governor General demanded that he do this homage as an act of loyalty to the Japanese government. He regarded the act as one of worship. He wrote a courteous letter to the governor, asserting his loyalty to the government and stating that he taught his students such loyalty, but that as a Christian he could not bow in worship to the dead ancestors whose spirits were supposed to be in this temple.

WIT AND WISDOM

Father—"Why are children so much worse than they used to be?"
Grandfather—"I lay it on to improved ideas in building."

Father—"Why so?"
Grandfather—"Shingles are scarce, and you can't spank a boy with a tin roof."

God Provides a Leader

At Moses' birth his parents had faith to believe that God would use their child. So they hid him in a basket in the bulrushes along the Nile river to prevent his slaying.

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Exodus 2:1-3:12

Here Pharaoh's daughter found him and Miriam cleverly suggested getting a Hebrew nurse and brought Moses' own mother. Her influence on her child kept him true to his mother's people.

At manhood Moses' sympathies were with the Hebrews, "his brethren". Finding an Egyptian beating a Hebrew, Moses slew him and fled to Midian where he was a shepherd for forty years.

From the burning bush in the wilderness God called Moses to become shepherd to his people Israel to deliver them from Egypt. (GOLDEN TEXT—Ex. 3:10.)

Church Forum

For a quarter of a century there has been a growing interest in recreation. Its importance, especially since the World War, has been considered by an increasing number greater than the importance of Sabbath observance. In not a few quarters recreation is considered more profitable than worship. What does the future have in store for us? With fewer working hours, and increased pay, what will our people do with their leisure time? Will they ignore worship as an essential feature to character building? This problem Christianity must face. This issue must be faced by the youth of today. The true Christian desires character. There are many contributing factors of which recreation is one, but not the whole. So, in the building of character, one should engage in a number of things lest the life will become unbalanced. Emphasize the importance of recreation but show that it is not the whole of life and must be kept within the moral bounds of the Christian faith.

His subject will be, "Christ, The Chief Corner Stone." You can't afford to miss hearing this young man. His messages are an inspiration. A special music number will be furnished by Miss Carpenter, a talented young lady, visiting in the home of Prof. Headlee. She will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Livingston, who is also visiting in the city. We are especially appealing to the young people of the city to attend these services. At 8 o'clock Thursday, July 15th, Rev. J. C. English of the Fifth street and Osage avenue Methodist church will preach. Come and hear this good message.

A Square Shooter
Bobby Jones, a champion golf player, has made for himself a reputation for square shooting. At one time, playing a tournament in Columbus, Ohio, when he was far enough away from the official scorer not to be seen, for some reason he turned the ball just enough to be called a stroke. The game was a close one and when the official scorer held up four fingers, indicating four strokes, Bobby held up five fingers, he himself counting the stroke unseen by others. This was the second day's play. Bobby had won the first day and now this was the final play. But win or lose, Bobby Jones set out to play the game fairly and squarely and he did; he won by the narrow margin of one stroke that day.

When Bobby was asked about this incident he said: "There is only one way to play the game." It is more important to play fairly than to win. In fact, the boy who plays fairly and squarely will win no matter what the score is.

The Better Way

If You Are Well-Bred

You will be kind. You will try to make others happy.

You will never indulge in ill-natured gossip. You will never forget the respect due to age.

You will not swagger or boast of your achievements. You will not measure your civility by peoples bank accounts.

You will be scrupulous in your regard for the rights of others. You will not forget engagements, promises, or obligations of any kind.

You will never make fun of the peculiarities or idiosyncrasies of others.

You will never, under any circumstances, cause another pain if you can help it.

You will not think that "good intentions" compensate for rude or gruff manners.

You will be as agreeable to your social inferiors as to your equals and superiors.

You will never remind a cripple of his deformity or probe the sore spots of a sensitive soul.

MEETING IS HELD BY DINNER CLUB

The Smithton 4-H Dinner Club met at the home of the leader, Mrs. A. L. Watring.

Georgia Gibbins, president, had charge of the business meeting at which time plans were made and a team of two elected for the trial demonstration to be held at the courthouse sometime this month. Those chosen were Georgia Gibbins and Wilma Hill.

After the business meeting the leader took charge of the meeting, the club project being yeast bread, rolls and cinnamon buns.

The games played were in charge of the game and song leader, Hattie Rose Ellison. All members and the assistant leader, Mrs. John M. Harris were present.

The next meeting is to be with Nadine Demand on Friday, July 16th. The project will be frozen desserts.

DECLINE HITS THE GRAIN MARKET
CHICAGO, July 9.—(AP)—Facing uncertainties relative to United States and Canadian government crop reports after the close, wheat prices failed to develop much rallying power late today.

Rains in Canada and continued big record-breaking receipts of new domestic wheat acted as a weight on values. In some cases, the day's lowest prices on wheat were touched just before trading ended.

At the close, wheat was 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 cents under yesterday's finish, July $1.22 1/2, Sept. $1.23 1/2, to $1.23 3/4, corn 1 1/2 cents off to 1 1/2 cents up, July

WOW! THAT'S MY IDEA OF A SUNDAE

... and then MOTHER LET THEM IN ON HER SECRET

—She simply dropped into a store on the way home and asked for four Tak-Home Sundae. "Tak-Home" proved a good description of these generous cone-shaped packages filled with freezer-fresh ice cream and crowned with oodles of tasty flavoring. There were plenty of flavors to choose from, too...

...another big advantage over buying bulk ice cream and separate syrup. So she picked them to suit the tastes that she knew so well: Chocolate for dad, Strawberry for Betty Lou, Pineapple for Junior and herself.

—Then she simply pinched the tip of each package over the dessert dishes — and behold! A flavory sleigh-ride for everybody's palate!

YES, everybody is talking about Tak-Home Sundae. Ready-to-serve—in all popular flavors—with all the muss and bother left out. Don't forget this solution to the emergency refreshment for those unexpected callers—don't forget them for the planned parties either, from the after-lunch luncheon up to the big church or club gatherings. And don't forget to treat the family today!

LaMonte Items

(By Miss Elsie Smiley)

A miscellaneous shower was given Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kerby for Mrs. Jack Morrison of Moberly, who, with Mr. Morrison had been making a week end visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Moore. After the guests had assembled under pretense of its being a Fourth of July gathering, Mrs. Morrison was called to join the group. A messenger then appeared at the door and had her sign for an express package. A huge box filled with a variety of gifts was then presented to the honor guest, much to her surprise. Mrs. Kerby and Mrs. Moore served refreshments of angel food and dark cake to the 34 guests present. Mr. and Mrs. Morrison left that night for their home in Moberly.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Curry had as their guests from Friday until Monday Mrs. Curry's sister, Mrs. R. E. Mosley and Mr. Mosley of Carthage.

Miss Jessie Fell and brother, Hugh Fell who are both employed in St. Louis, visited Sunday and Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Moore.

Mrs. Elizabeth Andrew spent Thursday and Friday in Kansas City on business.

Mrs. Etta Reavis entertained at dinner Sunday Mrs. Johnson of Green Ridge, Rev. and Mrs. J. D. Briggs and son Fred, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sinclair and daughter Ruth Elizabeth, Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Reavis, Mrs. Elizabeth Andrew, Mrs. Esther Olney, Misses Eula Pace, Velma Sinclair and Opal Sinclair.

Mrs. E. D. Guthrie has received word that her nephew, Alan Taylor, the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Taylor of Santa Paula, Calif., was drowned Sunday, June 20, in the Santa Paula river near their home. The child was wading when he stepped into a deep hole. He was Mr. and Mrs. Taylor's only child.

Mrs. Ada Caffee of Kansas City arrived Saturday to visit her brother, Henry Murray, who has been quite ill during the past week but is now somewhat improved.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Whitehead and son Paul were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. John Rathburn at their home near Knob Noster.

J. C. Wilson arrived Tuesday evening for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. C. C. Whitehead and family. Mr. Wilson spent about six months with relatives at Los Angeles, Calif. The latter part of May he went to San Antonio, Texas, and visited his son, A. B. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson who accompanied him for a visit. They stopped on their way at Hot Springs, Ark., for three weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Clark had as their guests from Thursday until Saturday his niece, Mrs. E. W. Mayben, Mr. Mayben and two children, Marie and Billy, of Gadsden, Ala. They had been attending the exposition at Dallas, Texas. Mrs. Mayben was before her marriage Miss Kathleen Evans.

Mrs. Letha Lewis had as guests Saturday and Sunday her son William S. and daughters Dorothy Mae and Shirley Jean, all of St. Joseph. P. A. Taylor of Kansas City, his mother, Mrs. Margaret Taylor and her grandchildren, Margaret Ann and Taylor Spillers of Blue Springs.

THERE'S ONLY ONE WAY TO STOP CONSTIPATION

You have to correct the cause. Simply taking a pill now and then is just temporary—and often harmful.

Most constipation is due to meals low in "bulk." Put enough "bulk" in your diet and you can really correct common constipation.

That's why millions of people eat Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day. This cereal furnishes "bulk" which does not "break down" in the body. ALL-BRAN absorbs twice its weight in water, gently sponges and cleanses the system.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is a food—not a medicine. You buy it at the grocery store. Besides "bulk," it has vitamin B to tone up the intestines, and iron for the blood. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily with milk or cream. Three times daily in severe cases. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

visited Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Taylor's daughter, Mrs. E. D. Guthrie and family.

Mrs. E. G. Mahin and daughters Dorothy Gene and Mary Louise left Saturday for Denver, Colo., for a visit with Mrs. Mahin's brother, L. R. Rutter.

Rev. William Crabtree left Sunday evening for Chillicothe, Ohio, where he will visit his son M. W. Crabtree.

Mrs. Claudia Brown of Kansas City arrived Saturday for a visit with her cousin, Mrs. Roger Settle and family.

Mrs. Henry Hall of north of town suffered a light stroke Tuesday morning at her home and will be confined to her bed for about a month. Her sister, Miss Eva Hotsenpiller of Kansas went Tuesday morning to the Hall home to be with her sister during her illness.

Mrs. Edward Swarts returned to Clinton last Wednesday after a visit with her sister-in-law Mrs. E. P. Burke and the families of her nephews, R. B. Burke and Frank Burke. Mrs. Burke accompanied her to her home and visited relatives at Clinton returning Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Ihrig of Smithton visited last Thursday evening with Rev. and Mrs. William Crabtree.

Miss Lima Crole who has been spending several months with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Crole in Wichita, Kas., has returned home. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Scott of Lebanon visited relatives here and at Warrensburg during the week. Joe Burke returned home with them for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. L. F. Wade and son, Billy, of Kansas City arrived last Thursday to spend Mr. Wade's vacation of two weeks at their home here. Their daughter, Miss Virginia Lee Wade, who has employment in Kansas City spent the week end here.

Mrs. William McCredie and her nephew Billy Watson of Monticarrat were dinner guests Monday evening of her brother Virgil Hansbrough and Mrs. Hansbrough.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Chatham of Sweet Springs were visiting Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers and other friends Saturday.

Miss Ruth McCune spent the week end with friends in Kansas City.

Mrs. Clara Wade and daughter

Miss Doris Wade of Kansas City, and M. E. Shidler of Lees Summit visited Sunday with Mrs. Wade's sister, Mrs. R. E. Guthrie and her nephew, E. D. Guthrie and family.

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Miles have taken over the management of the Lake View hotel. They have had housekeeping rooms there for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. George Swops spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Parsons at their home north of Warrensburg. Miss Doris Larson of Windsor, who is attending the State Teachers' College in Warrensburg spent Thursday night with Miss Rowena Wheeler.

Miss Letha Shaw who is attending the Missouri University at Columbia, spent the week end at her home here.

LEWIS AND GIRDLER BOTH ASSAILED

WASHINGTON, July 8. — The "baby members" of congress plunged into the labor fray today, one denouncing John L. Lewis, while the other caustically criticized steel's Tom Girdler.

Thirty-two-year-old Senator Holt (D-WVa) declared over the radio that whenever Lewis supports a person for public office, he thinks that person "becomes his private property." Holt called on the Democratic party to return money advanced by Lewis in the last campaign.

The mortgage on the White House must be paid," he said.

A short time earlier, Rep. O'Connell (D-Mont) declared on the floor of the house that Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel Corporation and foe of Lewis, is a gangster who would turn industry into a racket.

The 28-year-old legislator struck at congressional critics of steel strikers, saying the critics "are only repaying the money and grants given them by wealthy, entrenched interests."

Girdler, the "baby congressman" said, was "responsible for the premeditated murder" in the steel strikes.

SPRINGFIELD WARS ON PIN BALL GAMES

By The Associated Press.
SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 9.—Prosecutor Nat W. Benton's drive against the pin-ball games and coin machines here continued today, with eight men jailed or free on bond, and warrants issued for four others, on charges of setting up gambling devices.

Emil D. "Andy" Rebori, wealthy young Italian who Benton credits with owning most of the pin-ball games in Springfield, was jailed for investigation last night, less than 24 hours after he had been released on $1,000 bond pending his hearing on gambling device charges.

Jailed with him were four of his employees. Under bond were four proprietors of establishments in which the games were found by city and county officers in raids which have continued intermittently since Saturday night.

In Prosecutor Benton's office and at the police station, a jumbled array of pin-ball games and other coin machines, such as "dice" games and penny cigarette vending machines, awaited a decision from Circuit Judge Warren L. White on whether they are gambling devices.

Benton said prosecution of defendants will be delayed until after his ruling.
